Commerce Update (2:15 p.m.)

Executive Director Vanessa Gonzalez gave an overview of Commerce current status and provided the following remarks:

- Interim Director Kent Ennis has an amazing background in economics. Commerce is very fortunate to have him representing our Agency.
- Budget update- The damage to Commerce's budget was the same as it was for many other agencies. State funding for Commerce has been reduced and/or swept away; however, federal funding continues to be available. Since many Commerce programs intertwine with each other, the budget cuts have been very complicated.
If a grant was paid out before the freezing date, the client is fine. Commerce is not allowed to break any contract. No grants will be awarded until further notice.
- No stances on bills or budget
- Senate Hearing - Interim Director Ennis, Ms. Lisa Danko, Director of Finance and Investment, and Ms. Jaye O'Donnell, Director of Marketing and Business Attraction, represented Commerce in a Senate Hearing. They stated very clearly why Commerce exists and has continued to exist over the years and clarified that it is not duplicating efforts of other service providers. They described the state incentive programs and packages and elaborated on Business Attraction activities and Commerce and Economic Development Commission (CEDC). Commerce has supporters within the Senate; however other senators need more clarification as to why Commerce is essential for the sustainability of the State of Arizona.
- Boards and Commissions are currently on hold. No administrative staff has been identified.
This Council meeting was called to update members on our current situation as known to date. However, no meeting will be called unless a March Order is received.

- Creating a friendlier business climate with not so many regulatory offices
